NEWS BOOSTERS

BEGIN WORK

Today Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kavanaugh and Miss Dora Fairchild began their canvass of the city in the interest of the News. They are making a house to house canvass and not only will they secure a large number of new subscribers, but will also gather other information which will be of aid to the paper. They are experts in this line and as a result of their work the News will reach practically every house in Ada. Again the News desires to ask its readers and friends to lend our representatives all the assistance in their power.

More Indian Land Will Be Sold.

Muskogee, Ok., Feb. 27.—Sixty thousand acres of unallotted Indian lands in the Cherokee, Creek and Seminole Indian nations will be thrown on the market about May 15, according to information given out here today by the commissioner of the five tribes.

This land will be sold at the minimum price at the value that was placed upon it for allotment purposes. It may be bought from 50c to $6.50 an acre. At a series of sales just closed involving lands in the Chickasaw and Choctaw country the minimum price was double the appraised value.

The price will be lower at the coming sales and more liberal terms will be made to the purchasers.

Richard Flood left yesterday on the south Frisco, to be gone a short time. He stated, however, that he will return to Ada in about four weeks and prepare to put on another sale of lots in the Dan Hays addition.

POLICE GET SEVEN MORE FOR GAMING

The police force of Ada is keeping up its crusade on gambling and the life of the poker player seems to be a rough one. Yesterday afternoon the chief picked up three negroes who were enjoying a quiet game and their case will be heard this afternoon or tomorrow.

Last night the force located a quiet game in the rear of the Big 4 barber shop and the four players came across with a total of $51. As a similar amount was collected from the four who were captured the night before, it will be seen that the lovers of a quiet game are becoming the source of a handsome revenue for the city.

POLICE COURT DOES THRIVING BUSINESS

Yesterday and this morning a total of $164 was paid into the city treasury from gambling cases, and $59 from other cases, making a total of $223 collected for infractions of city ordinances. It would seem that the officers of the city are making good.

THE AUTO CRAZE IN OKLAHOMA CITY

More Than 1,000 Machines in State Metropolis.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 27.—There are about 1,100 automobiles in Oklahoma City. Bob Parman, city clerk, who gives out the license tags, says that is more machines than many larger cities in this country have. Parman's knowledge about the number of autos in other cities was received Saturday from the Motor Age Publishing company of Kansas City, Mo.

A week ago the Kansas City paper wrote Parman for statistics on autos and autosist in Oklahoma City. He sent word that there were nearly 1,100 machines here and that by May 1 there would be 1,200 cars in his belief.

A reply from the Motor Age company was received Saturday asking Parman if he had not confused his figures somewhat as many cities of over 100,000 did not have more than 300 or 400 automobiles.

Parman has replied, telling the inquirers that he was correct.

NO INDIAN LEGISLATION AT THIS SESSION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—All hope for the enactment of the legislation winding up the affairs of the five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma was abandoned Saturday when the house committee on Indian affairs adjourned without acting on the proposed legislation. The committee had proceeded but one-half hour when Representative Stevens of Texas called

R. G. BIGGARS FOR CHIEF OF POLICE

As will be noted in the announcement column of this issue, R. G. Biggars is a candidate for chief of police, subject to the action of the primary of March 21.

Mr. Biggars needs no introduction to the citizens of Ada, he having lived here for the past ten years. Most of the time since coming here he has been engaged in the bottling business but is now employed at the cement plant.

Mr. Biggars is an old time resident of this section, having lived for a number of years at Ardmore before coming to Ada. He is not a new hand at the police business, having served in that capacity at Ardmore, and those who knew him then state that he made a good officer and one who was not afraid to respond to the call of duty. Hence it is safe to say that if he is the choice of the voters of Ada that he will discharge the duties of his office fairly and impartially. Furthermore, Mr. Biggars is a man of good morals and one who is absolutely sober at all times.

ed attention to the fact that the house was in session and under the rules the committee could not transact business while the house was in session. He insisted upon his point whereupon the committee adjourned sine die, after passing customary resolutions of thanks of the retiring chairman, Charles Burke of South Dakota.

CIRCLE PRESENTS MERCHANTS' CARNIVAL

Last evening the Woodmen Circle ladies gave the Merchants' Carnival which had been postponed from an earlier date on account of bad weather. A good house greeted them and the whole affair was a pronounced success.

The program began with a beautiful drill in which seventeen of the ladies participated. Then following a number of well rendered recitations songs, dialogues, etc., came the advertising feature. A lady or girl with a banner suitably inscribed stepped forward and recited a verse telling of the bargains offered and the desirability of the various business firms of the town as places to trade. Several candidates for city offices were also represented and their claims were presented in rhyme.

Minor May Be Notary Public.

There is no law in Oklahoma limiting the age of a notary public.

Simply because a person is not old enough to sign a legal document is no reason that he can not acknowledge one. This question was settled by Gov. Cruce who decided that any person who was capable could be a notary public.

The question arose when Lonnie Nixon, of Mangum, who is only nineteen years old applied for a commission. It was held in the office of the secretary of state that the boy was not of age and could not take the acknowledgment of a legal document. No statute could be cited to back the contention and the matter was referred to the attorney-general. That department said that whatever the governor held in the matter would be legal.

Governor Cruce decided that Nixon could have a commission.

J. B. Gray, a prominent citizen of Lula, is an Ada visitor today.

Oklahoma Flag Proposed.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 27.—Oklahoma may have a flag of her own, according to a bill offered in the legislature by Senator McMechan and Representative Wright of Oklahoma County. The banner as proposed is of a red field with a five pointed star in the center bearing the figures "46" thus denoting the order in which the state entered the union. The design was prepared by Mrs. W. R. Clement of Oklahoma City, and is presented to the legislature for ratification.

Fruit May Not Have Been Killed.

Muskogee, Ok., Feb. 27.—A careful examination of the fruit trees within a radius of 100 miles of Muskogee shows that the fruit crop was not killed by frost as at first reported. Not more than 10 per cent of the peach crop was damaged.

Orrin Nelson was down from Francis attending court yesterday, returning in the afternoon.

INDIANS THINK QUANAH

PARKER WAS POISONED

Lawton, Ok., Feb. 27.—Comanche Indians are unwilling to believe that their chief, Quanah Parker, who died last week, came to his death through natural causes. They think he was poisoned and have started an investigation.

Three days before his death the chief went among the Cheyenne Indians for a visit. He was taken ill suddenly. Returning home, he died within twenty minutes after his arrival. White physicians attributed his death to rheumatism and asthma.

White Parker, son of the late chief, has been chosen to conduct the inquiry into his father's death. The boy will go among the Cheyennes in search for evidence.

A. M. Crow left for Ardmore yesterday afternoon to attend the meeting of the trustees of the Confederate Home. They will elect a superintendent for the home today, and Mr. Crow stands an excellent chance of getting the appointment.

ANOTHER CITY FOR NEW RULE.

Springfield, Ill., has adopted commission government, by a majority of 670. The Illinois capital has witnessed an interesting campaign in which the lobbyists and the ward politicians warned the people against the danger of "departing from our well established principle of government." The people, however, decided to make the departure and adopted a plan of government that, in practice, has been disappointing in no city.

Decatur, Belleville, Peoria, Galesburg and a number of Illinois towns are preparing to vote on the new rule before the date for holding city elections. For that reason the result in Springfield was awaited with especial interest. The victory was all the more encouraging to the friends of good government because the cities of Illinois are preparing to ask the legislature for some amendments to the commission government law, and the revelation of a majority sentiment for the new rule where its enemies expected to be able to defeat it will have the effect of removing some of the opposition to the plan among the politicians of the legislature.

The best thing that can be said in favor of commission government is that in the cities where it has been adopted the voters could not be induced to go back to the old way. It is the business way of conducting the affairs of a city, and Oklahoma City certainly needs business management now.—Oklahoma City Times.

Chief Hounshell has said that gambling must stop in Ada and the way he is going after the devotees of the fascinating games indicates that he means business. It is not just a bunch of negro crap shooters he is after, but the big ones as well.

The McAlester Capital-News remarks that after a search among all the reports of Washington's birthday celebrations in the state, it failed to find a single notice of a celebration by the "Sons of Washington."

Hamilton and Burr's Duel.

By far the most exciting personal transaction that occurred among the first generation of American statesmen and politicians was the fatal encounter between Colonel Aaron Burr, at the time vice president Alexander Hamilton, formerly secretary of the treasury, on July 11, 1804. In this affair of honor Hamilton was the victim, but scarcely less so Burr, for the latter was killed politically, was driven into exile and across his name was stamped a sinister bar which remains to this day, in spite of the many attempts at white-washing.

The tragedy at Weehawken, N. J., had in it every element of pathos.
Hamilton was young, as statesmen go—only 47. He had an adored wife and a houseful of children with whom he was living happily on the stately grange overlooking the Hudson river in the neighborhood of Ft.
George, on whose lawn he had planted thirteen gum trees in memory of the thirteen states he loved so well.

The young republic needed him badly. He was not an autocrat, and a lover of peace rather than trouble. And last, but not least, he was no believer in dueling. He had lost a son in that way. He was forced against his principles by Burr's challenge to participate in a murderous combat from which his conscience recoiled and would not attempt to fire at the adversary whose first bullet mortally wounded him. It is impossible to underestimate the share this fact played in the general indignation against Burr.

Principles were dear to the men of '76; a passionate revulsion against all constraint of conscience was the very seed and heart of the new fruit of liberty, and at a time when duel law ruled Europe and society unquestioned, the bold American "plain people" called the death of Hamilton common murder.

The animosity between Burr and Hamilton, as the leaders respectively of the two great political parties, was very bitter. Burr always seemed to be looking for some excuse to bring on a conflict with Hamilton.
He finally found such in letters written by a zealous partisan, in which it was stated that Hamilton had spoken of Burr as a dangerous man, and the writer added that he could detail a still more despicable opinion which General Hamilton had expressed of Mr. Burr.

Upon this latter passage Burr seized as the means of forcing Hamilton to fight. He wrote to Hamilton, demanding to know what was referred to. He received a reply which he claimed was evasive. William P. Van Ness was chosen by Burr to deliver the challenge. The date was set. The duelists met at the banquet of the society of the Cincinnati, of which Hamilton was president and Burr a member, several days before the duel but neither recognized the other.

The fatal morning came. Burr arrived first and Hamilton followed soon after. The seconds marked the distance, the duelists took their positions and at the command of "present" of the Hamilton second, both parties presented and fired in succession. The fire of Burr took effect.
Hamilton sprang upon his toes with a convulsive movement, reeled a little toward the heights, at which moment he involuntarily discharged his pistol, and then fell headlong upon his face and remained motionless upon the ground. His ball rustled among the branches seven feet above feet wide of him.

Burr heard it, looked up and saw where it had severed a twig. Looking at Hamilton, he beheld him falling and advanced towards him with a manner and gesture that appeared to be expressive of regret, but without speaking turned about and withdrew. No further communication took place between the principals.
Burr crossed in his barge to New York and Hamilton was borne away tenderly in the arms of his seconds to his home. He expired the following day.

The death of this illustrious statesman was universally deplored as a national calamity second only to that of Washington himself. The indignation against Burr knew no bounds. His fixed determination to bring Hamilton within range of his pistol, feeling sure of being able to kill him, caused his act to be branded as willful murder, and an indictment was duly found against him; but in a few days he fled, an outlaw

CRACK DEGREE TEAM WILL

BE AT McALESTER

Grand Secretary Chauncey has secured the crack team of the Odd Fellow order in the southwest to put on a drama at the opera house at McAlester during the coming meeting of the Grand Lodge. Of this drama the Dallas News speaks as follows:

The Oak Cliff degree staff, i. O. O.
F., has accepted an invitation to attend the Oklahoma grand lodge meeting in McAlester, the week of April 10, and will at that meeting exam-plify the dramatized degrees. This work will be given at the McAlester Opera House on the night of April 11. On the following night the Oak Cliff staff will present for the public the spectacular drama "Outside the Heavenly Gates." This production will be the first which this organization has given for the public, all previous work having been confined to the lessons exemplified in the ritualistic degrees of the Odd Fellows' lodge. The interest manifested by the public in this character of dramatic work has prompted the public production. The Oak Cliff degree staff, it is claimed, was the originator of the dramatized degrees.

The theme of the drama "Outside the Heavenly Gates" is taken from the Bible story of the salvation of Barabbas during the despotic reign of Herod over the Roman Empire and illustrated in a spectacular manner the world-wide influences promulgated by the teachings of the Savior during that period. It is said to be a highly educational as well as a religious drama.

The drama opens with a sacred concert part, which will be rendered by the chorus of the degree staff, augmented by the staff concert orchestra. The musical numbers will be in charge of J. F. Witt and H. C.
Fallon. The drama is under the direction of J. O. Gill and W. D. Trotter.

The chorus will hold rehearsal in the Oak Cliff lodge rooms at 2:30 p. m. today. Next Tuesday night the degree staff will exemplify the third degree on a class of candidates for membership in the Oak Cliff lodge.

THOMAS DIXON TO APPEAR.

In the Leading Role of "The Sins of the Father."

Thomas Dixon, author of "The Clansman" has written a new play, "The Sins of the Father," in which he will himself appear at Shawnee, March 4, and Oklahoma City March 17 and 18.

This is Mr. Dixon's first visit to Oklahoma in many years. He has leaped from the Baptist pulpit to the footlights, and is drawing capacity audiences as a theatrical "star."

The "Clansman" was historical.
"The Sins of the Father" is contemporary. "The Clansman" set forth the achievements of the Ku Klux Klan.
"The Sins of the Father" Thomas Dixon presents the ruin that threatened to overwhelm a Southern household from the mixture of races. A beautiful young girl, ward of Major Daniel Norton, fiancée of his son Tom, is suspected of being a sixteenth blood negress.

But the boy refuses to believe the story despite the strong evidence that supports it. He defies the father and prepares to marry Helen. The Major's position is a terrible one.
As the leader of the white forces, he has won a strenuous state campaign for negro disfranchisement.
He returns to find negroid mongrel-ism triumphant in his own home.

Out of the interplay of these three characters—father, son and hapless girl—Mr. Dixon has fashioned a tremendous dramatic struggle. The denouncement is as unexpected as the complications are startling. And, relieving the pathos and tragedy—are delightful pictures of the lighter side of Southern life, the fun and love affairs of the humble folk, the thieving, capering Andy, and the joyful, overwhelming Minerva.

Extraordinary interest is manifested in the announcement that Mr.
Dixon himself will be seen in the principal role of his latest and greatest play.

Orders for tickets for this great attraction from out-of-town patrons should be accompanied by express sired. Prices for the matinee performances are 50c, 75c and $1.00, while the night prices are 50c, 75c,

$1.00 and $1.50.

Oklahoma Boy Accidentally Killed.

Amite City, La., Feb. 26.—James Taylor, the 12-year-old son of James L. Taylor of Oklahoma City, Okla., accidentally shot himself in the ab-with his cousin, Sterling Lenoir, and died a few hours later.

The news of the accident was im-

A star of ill fate seems to have overshadowed the Lenoir family, as this is the sixth death which has oc-

DAY IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Late yesterday afternoon the jury in the J. W. Morse larceny case returned a verdict of guilty and assessed his punishment at a year and a day in the penitentiary.

This morning Joe Hancock was tried for larceny, it being charged that he stole a pair of pants containing a number of checks belonging to Frank Johnson. The case went to the jury about noon and he was promptly acquitted.

The case on trial as this paper goes to press is one of larceny against Bud Davis, colored, he being charged with the theft of a pair of pants.

The attorneys in the Jno. Jenkins case asked that he be permitted his freedom on his present bond of $5,000 pending the motion for a new trial, but Judge McKeown demanded that said bond be strengthened. As yet this has not been done and Jenkins is in jail awaiting the argument on the motion for a new trial.

Entertainment is Postponed.
Prof. Fentem requests the News to announce that on account of the bad weather the entertainment that was to have been given at the city hall this evening by the Girls' Glee Club and Male Quartet of the Normal has been postponed until Friday evening. It has not been determined whether it will be given at the opera house or the normal auditorium.

WORTHLESS ADVERTISING.
Every few days some traveling man blows into Ada with a worthless scheme of advertising from which he usually manages to get a neat sum from the business men of the town, who either have not the courage to say no to the smooth scheme as outlined or are frightened into it by the threat that some competitor will get the bonanza which is thus turned down unthoughtedly by him. These schemes take various forms but usually pan out as half a dozen cards or blotters hung about on the walls of a few houses of the city. The business man usually has to pay several times what a similar ad would cost in a paper, and never gets any benefit from it. Ada must have a lot of easy men, judging from the number of the travelers who thrive here.

Judge McKeown is putting the finishing touches on the addition to his residence. He is also having a new roof put on.

DIRECT ELECTION
Washington, Feb. 27.—Several speeches were made in the senate today on the resolution calling for the election of senators by a direct vote of the people. Tomorrow the resolution will be put to a vote. One of the speakers was Senator Rayner of Maryland, who advocated the adoption of the resolution despite the amendments which had been voted into the bill on Saturday. Another, Bacon of Georgia, who had favored the resolution at the start was perhaps its stoutest opponent in its altered form.

Make the test, or experiment, or thrift-adventure wholly in the interests and behalf of your pocket-book! JNO. CRAWFORD TALKS OF LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

Representative Jno. Crawford came in from Oklahoma City this morning to look after some urgent business. He stated to the News reporter that the appropriation bill will be reported in the house today and will likely pass in a day or two. He says his committee has put the knife to the amounts asked for and that instead of over $8,000,000 as called for by the various bills, the one submitted will carry about $4,500,000.

He says it will be impossible to adjourn March 4 as agreed on by the two houses, and that the legislature will not adjourn earlier than the middle of next week.

He also states that the district attorney bill has likely been killed for good by the senate, and that there is some doubt about the fate of the tax assessor bill. Even if the senate passes it there is not much probability of its taking effect until next year.

Mr. Crawford will return to his post tomorrow morning.

SMALL TOWN NEED NOT HOLD PRIMARIES

Oklahoma City, Feb. 27.—That provision of the state election law which says independent candidates for offices are entitled to have their names printed on official tickets at regular elections when they are endorsed by citizens in mass meetings has been accepted in a broader sense by Secretary Seth K. Cordon of the state election board, and the provision will be applicable to the smaller towns in order that they may escape the expense of holding primary elections March 21 would entail.

The state election board is advising citizens in the smaller towns that candidates endorsed in mass meetings may have their names appear on the official ballots. This rule will apply to candidates of any political persuasion. For instance, the democrats in a small town may hold a mass meeting and endorse John Doe for mayor, and his name will be placed on the ticket, and the republicans or any other party may do likewise.

Secretary Cordon of the state election board thinks the plan will be equally as satisfactory as would the holding of primaries to nominate men for offices and will not incur any expense whatever.

STATE TO BORE WELLS.

Bill by Representative Marshall Making Appropriation of $45,000 Approved by Governor.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 23.—The bill by Mr. Marshall, the blind representative from Cimarron county, which was approved by Gov. Cruce yesterday, is of importance to the Panhandle section of Oklahoma. It appropriates $45,000 to be spent by the state board of Agriculture in sinking three wells in each of Cimarron, Texas and Beaver counties upon school sections in an effort to secure artesian water.

Adhering to the theory that if artesian water is found in that section of the state the value of the school lands will be greatly enhanced, Gov. Cruce required the legislature to pass a resolution providing that none of the school land in that section of the state be appraised until the experiments are completed.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

HOUSE CONSIDERS STATE RAIL- ROAD—GLOOMY OUTLOOK FOR DISTRICT ATTY. BILL.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 27.—The minor's lease bill, under the terms of which oil and gas rights may be acquired in Oklahoma, passed the house of representatives today by a vote of 61 to 33, but not until a determined effort had been made by opponents of the measure in the form presented to "soften" its provisions. The same legislation was a feature of the constitutional convention, the First and Second legisla-

As offered the bill carried liberal provisions for the leasing of minors' land, in that, under supervision of the County court, leases may be made extending to the majority of the ward, but if it appeared to the court as being necessary to preserve the estate, or prevent waste of the resources, the lease may be extended beyond the ward's majority for such period as oil and gas were found in paying quantities.

Public Utilities Bill.

The house had under consideration the bill creating a state Board of public Utilities, which is a companion measure to that authorizing the building of a publicly owned railroad. In a tentative way the line of road is projected from the Panhandle strip on the northwest to the southeastern corner of the state, and the benefited districts, or counties lying along the route, are authorized in the companion act to float $15,000,000 worth of bonds. The Utility board created by the bill under consideration is to be composed of five, the president to receive $10,000 per year. In a limited way the benefited district may be taxed to keep the bonds and interest paid.

Mr. Barrett led the fight for defeat of the bill, and asked the house "whether the legislature had gone crazy?" He said the idea was the most Socialistic he had encountered charging that it had been inspired by members of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce in view of the fact that this city is to be the center of operations, also it was urged by ex-Senator Marum of Woodward county.

"Then there is ex-Gov. C. N. Haskell," said Mr. Barrett in discussing the boosters of the idea, "who is a railroad builder and promoter by occupation. I am in favor of the state owning a seat of government, a constitution, a code of laws and a good reputation."

Other members of the house, Mr. McDuffey, Mr. Deveraux, Mr. Roland and Mr. Wright were for the bill. Mr. McDuffey stated he was about ready to say that government control was a failure which was the position of Mr. Jones of Jefferson, who said the question was too big to handle in a limited time, and, although he was almost ready to follow the idea of public ownership, he asked that the matter go over until Thursday.

Barrett's Motion Fails.

Mr. Lewis told of an experience in Tennessee with such a scheme, and said that Wilson and Davidson counties in that state were still paying taxes to meet principal and interest on bonds they floated in railroad construction before the civil war. Mr. Barrett asked the house to indefinitely postpone the bill, which failed by a vote of 42 to 42, and the Jones motion, to delay until Thursday, prevailed.

The senate declined by a very decisive vote to indefinitely postpone a bill which authorizes the sale of the remaining public school land, amounting to 1,400,000 acres, upon a motion by Senator Franklin, which was pending from Saturday's session. The school land question was debated for a large part of the day, the advocates of the measure relying upon the party platform pledges of the last election, and thought the lessees who made their homes upon the land should be given opportunity to purchase; also that a sale meant enlarging the taxable wealth of the counties.

Senators against the bill referred to the vote of former Indian Territory against the sale of school land two years ago, and they believed the values would become dissipated if turned into cash, as had been shown they said, by other states.

Senator Roddie's Opinion.

Senator Roddie, who opposed further sale of public lands, said he would be willing for the state to buy the lessees' vested rights and improvements, then to lease the property upon a different basis, and when asked by Senator Thomas how he would get the money, said he would use the school fund, or, if necessary, float bonds.

Senator Thompson, favoring the bill, urged conditions in Eastern Oklahoma as an argument for turning Western lands loose so the people could have homes.

Senator Vandeventer told the senate that the policy of Texas was to sell in order to build up the western part of the state. He said conditions in Oklahoma were somewhat similar.

After voting down the Franklin motion to indefinitely postpone, the senate, by a vote of 11 to 19, declined to recommend it, and it will be pending business Wednesday.

In terms the bill authorizes for sale sections 13, 16 and 36, and 13 and 36 in original Greer county.

Lands in Texas, Beaver and Cimarron counties are reserved from sale pending the result of the artesian well experiment.

The vote taken in the senate tonight does not augur well for the district Attorney bill. The bill as reported from the house has been with the senate committee for more than ten days, and a motion by Senator Echols that it go on the calendar without recommendation was defeated by a vote of 9 to 24.

House Adopts Conference Report.

The house adopted a conference report on a bill authorizing sheriffs to enforce orders of the school land commissioners, also permitting the commissioners to sue and be sued, and, by a vote of 60 to 33, adopted a conference committee report which appropriates $125,000 for a law building and equipment at the state university. The senate originally provided for $150,000, but the house cut it to $100,000 and the figures reported by the conference committee were a compromise.

Senator Williams offered a new bill in the senate appropriation of a state house, which supplements the $1,000,000 promised by real estate promoters of Oklahoma City. One-fourth of the state's amount is made available at once and the remainder in amounts equal to that paid by the promoters. Passage of the Williams bill will make the statehouse cost $2,000,000.

Code Revision Report Adopted.

By a vote of 22 to 14 the senate tonight adopted a majority committee report which recommended that the code revision made by Jean P. Day and Sam H. Harris be accepted as the law of the state. The senate's action insures passage of the house bill formally adopting the Harris-Day work and eliminates the code prepared by Judges Thomas of Muskogee, Brownlee of Kingfisher and Hayes of Hobart. It developed in the debate that a division in the code commission arose over construing their powers granted in the law authorizing their appointment.

May Rescind Adjournment Date.

At the night session of the house Chiropractic doctors gave a lecture on that system of treating human ailments and publicly diagnosed and treated two cases, one of whom was Mr. Lewis, the aged representative from Beckham county.

It is understood the sine die adjournment resolution fixing March 4 will be rescinded Saturday if it then develops the legislature is not ready to adjourn.

Alfalfa Roots Good Eating.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 28.—Alfalfa roots, white and tender, will take the place of early asparagus if Louise F. Weinland, an irrigation rancher in the Spokane valley, is successful with her plans for marketing the newest table vegetable in the western country. Miss Weinland, who came from Pennsylvania last spring, has broached the enterprise to members of the Spokane chamber of commerce and several have promised to assist in establishing a small cannery. The discovery that alfalfa root is nourishing to man as it is to live stock was made by Miss Weinland several months ago, but the proper method of preparing it was not ascertained until a few days ago, when the young woman, after poring for hours in a huge tome on cookery, decided to try recipes for cooking asparagus. The first dish was sampled by a neighbor's hired man who ignorant of what he was eating, called for a second dish. Other neighbors ate of the root and pronounced it satisfying to the palate as well as highly nourishing. They say the flavor is similar to asparagus.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs.
